

2008 AKC Agility Invitational Champion

A near fatal accident almost cost Duncan his life before the 2007 AKC Agility Invitational even began. Luckily, he was able to return home with us. Not getting a chance to really run last year, we owed him the opportunity this year for the 2008 Invitational. He ran like a champ in the first four rounds taking three first place finishes and a second. In the finals he got a chance to make up for last year...taking home a first place championship in the 8 inch division. To him, agility means being able to jump around with his mom. To me, agility means having fun and building a bond with my special little guy!
